Redefining a great library in the 21st century

We recognise:

- The way people are accessing information is changing.
- There is a growing expectation for information right now and right here.
- The boundaries to accessing information are diminishing.

We must:

- Recognise our uniqueness.
- Continue to work on making ourselves more accessible.
- Digitise, digitise, digitise.

Some things change....some things stay the same.
